

EMILY ANTHERS

emily.anthes@gmail.com

347.240.2100 | 703.966.7087

EXPERIENCE

Various Publications (New York, New York)

2005 - Present

Freelance writer. Pitch and write stories for Scientific American Mind, Discover, Seed, Slate, New York, Good, The Boston Globe, and other publications. Write primarily on science topics, including neuroscience, health and medicine, genetics, environmental science, and more.

Seed Magazine (New York, New York)

June 2006 - Dec. 2007

Associate Editor. Oversaw daily operations of the Web site, working with staff and freelance writers to assign and edit stories. Initiated and ran science news wire coverage. Pitched, reported, and wrote stories for the print magazine on topics ranging from neuroscience to space. In charge of the “Revolutionary Minds” project, a series of profiles of visionary researchers; responsibilities included fielding nominations, selecting finalists, and writing the final feature. Fact-checked, copy edited, and proofed manuscripts.

The St. Petersburg Times (St. Petersburg, Fla.)

Summer 2005

Metro intern. Bylined nearly 30 stories, including two page-one stories and 11 for the metro front. Covered crime, City Hall, education, and development, often on a daily deadline.

The Boston Globe (Boston, Mass.)

Summer 2004

Metro intern. Bylined nearly 30 stories and contributed to numerous others. Covered crime, local politics, community and education for the City & Region section, including both breaking news and features. Pitched and pursued own story ideas, including features for the Health/Science section.

The Wall Street Journal Europe (Brussels, Belgium)

Summer 2003

News intern. Covered the European Union and European business trends. Earned bylines and taglines in both European and U.S. editions. Generated ideas for, researched and wrote sidebars.

Yale Daily News (New Haven, Conn.)

Sept. 2001 – May 2005

Served as Editor in Chief from Oct. 2003 to Oct. 2004. Directed all coverage of the Yale Daily News and its associated publications. Oversaw daily production and long-term operations. Directed a 23-member managing board and 250-member staff. Served as co-president of the Yale Daily News Publishing Company and its eight divisions. Worked as a reporter before assuming editorship.

EDUCATION

Massachusetts Institute of Technology (Cambridge, Mass.)

M.S. in Science Writing. September 2006.

Yale University (New Haven, Conn.)

B.A. in History of Science, History of Medicine. May 2005.

AWARDS

John Hersey Prize: Awarded by the Yale English Department “for a body of journalistic work reflecting the spirit and ideals of John Hersey.”

Suisman Reporting Prize: Awarded by the Yale Daily News “for the most outstanding job of reporting for the Yale Daily News.”

Five awards from the Yale English Department: the Academy of American Poets Prize, the Frederick M. Clapp Fellowship for Poetry, the Gordon Barber Memorial Prize for Poetry, the J. Edward Meeks Award for Poetry, and the James Ashmun Veech Prize for Imaginative Writing.

COMPUTER SKILLS

Basic: HTML, CSS.

Proficient: Adobe InCopy, InDesign, Photoshop; Quark Publishing System.

Fluent: Microsoft Office.

References available upon request.